"We considered a number of Sinatra singers for our special birthday party and we knew from the start that Matt was the right choice. From the planning stage until the evening was concluded, Matt was emotionally engaged in our story and made sure that our evening was memorable for all, and especially the 90 year old birthday girl! His singing was beautiful and he took extra special care to customize his show to our family style. Thank you for sharing your talents on this important night in our family history. "
